“ Cheryl and I went to high school together and became quite close. Unfortunately time led us in different directions and we lost touch with one another. I would see her from time to time at the Shell station and we'd talk, but just not the same. She was one of the sweetest people I knew and we had a lot of fun together. She will be greatly missed, but at least she's no longer in pain. RIP Sherry (that's I called her then). Prayers go out to those left behind. God Bless.
