“ Denny and Rhonda have been our across the street neighbors for a very long time. Yet I really only spoke with him a few times.. I remember how well he took care of his lawn. Seems like he mowed every day.. Anyway I know his family will miss him. So I am sending my love and prayers. Alice Comai.

“ If there was a man who could teach you the world my dad Dennis was it. Growing up with a great dad is probably one of the most wonderful feelings a person could be blessed with. He loved his oldies station cool 101, he loved working on his cars or projects that he found to be interested in. There was always work to be done and as long as he was able to he had always fallowed through with what he set out to do. He had four sons and on daughter. Karen, Jon, Dennis, Jacob, and skylar. All who he would love to talk about and tell how great they are to anyone. He was a navy man but loved his notre dame football team. He attended a catholic school in south bend not sure the name of it probably st Mary’s. He went to college at notre dame to learn binary four Tran and colbolt for computer processing paid for by his employer and soon after he was hired to a big place in New York next to the World Trade Center where he was a assistant Vice President of the building and as a bonus he received a 10,000 dollar signing bonus. Not sure where he worked at after but I know he started L&W in 1993 and worked there till he retired. He loved fishing and many time we would go to bear lake up north Michigan and stay in a cabin and live off the fish we had catch. Mostly what he catches is more like it. He told me so many stories of his younger days. He used to have many buddy’s that he used to ride bikes with down the block and play base ball all the time. The only thing I can imagine when he told me was the sandalot movie. Anytime we were in his old town he would have to stop at Bonnie dunes and get us some burgers that and stop at notre dame. Most of his time though he would take care of the house and farm mainly cutting grass or plowing snow. My dad loves his family and he did all he could for them. I have enjoyed so much time with him miss him so much. Wouldn’t say the most though cause I feel like he is watching me saying that don’t go there or hey don’t do that. But he’s in a better place and from what I hear he will be watching the farm watching it being cared for just as much as he cared for it. Love you dad.

And you had to go through all the old neighborhoods and have a quiz on "do you remember who lived there?" And no trip was complete without a stool at Ebby's Meat Market to get fresh garlic polish sausage.

“ Dennis you were a man that was kind and caring, lived your family and told you like it was. You shared so many interesting stories about your life and places you had been over the years. Life with you was way too short. I will miss your texts to have coffee or go to lunch. My favorite was going to the lake for sunset sitting on a bench along the channel talking about the boats coming in and how fun to own one. You were always there when I needed help and would always say "don't buy that, I have 10 in the barn." You loved your auctions, bartering sales and tinkering with old cars. You made the most of life. May you fly high in heaven and be surrounded by your family who went before you. Try not to cause trouble with your brother Ron. Hopefully your mom will keep you both in line. Love and miss you so much already.

Many good memories we had from St Joe HS here in South Bend. It was always great hearing from you through facebook, I did message you a few weeks ago and my thought was you must not have been doing well because you did not answer. Hoping you are resting in Peace and the pain is gone. I pray that God wraps his loving arms around your family and helps them get through your loss. Sue
