“ My fondest memories are of backyard barbecues, friendly games of badmitten, and the humorous conversations that occur when families gather. The times we take for granted as children, quickly pass as we grow older and move away to start our careers and begin our own family. The foundation of my childhood and memories I carry with me and are passed on to my own children. I share the stories of days gone by, and the people who took the time to mold my character and foster my dreams and ambitions. I thank my Uncle Ed and Aunt Dorothy for setting aside time to let me know how important that they thought I was by just listening and encouraging my ideals and dreams.

Lovingly your niece,
