“ I did not know Greg very well. But the few times that we had spent together with family members were wonderful. My boys had so much fun hanging out with him on the boat cruise that we took this past late summer early fall. It was a great time. Greg Sr. you will be missed.... RIP

*“ I remember when we were busy planning George and Missy's wedding, Greg Sr. knocked on the door. I didn't recognize him (I hadn't seen him since George's graduation) I yelled someone's at the door Missy! She told me to let him in. He said, " Hi how's my girl?" to me. Although I was his ex wife's daughter he still treated me like I was his.
I also remember him asking me that at George's graduation party. He'll be missed! RIP Gregory Bond Sr.*

“ *This is Diana. Since Greg was 2 years younger than me, he referred to me as his "big" sister and I referred to him as my "little" brother. We got strange looks from people. lol
I remember that my husband and I took my Mom to see him when he finished boot camp. And the first time he was deployed to Vietnam, I wrote to him every single week with news from home. He said he received more letters than anyone. As we siblings moved out and got married, we saw less of each other. But Greg, as well as all my brothers and my sister, forever have a special place in my heart. I love you Greg and will welcome you back to life in God's New System.*

“ I am Greg jr. wife and figured I let everyone know that he told me he will never divorce me. Nice not to account for his kids and wife's feeling when posting this obit.

Michelle Wismer Bond - January 02, 2014 at 07:14 PM

Yes Michelle show some respect! After all Greg was respectful towards your family when you lost your parents. This is very disrespectful to air your grievances publicly like this!

Emily Davidoff - January 06, 2014 at 07:40 PM

Thank You Emily

Carol Hanners - January 11, 2014 at 03:48 PM

Thank you Emily well said

Eddie Bond - January 11, 2014 at 06:10 PM

You are both very welcome.

Your Children were included in his obituary along with the other Grandchildren but not you you would not even let us have them as part of our family, Greg SR. thought your were a BITCH so no you are never included Greg Jr loves his kids and you keep them away from us all, so kiss off, you took alt of joy out of my mans life by not letting his son have his Grandkids, their Christmas Presents are still here becuz you wouldn't let them come, so shut your pie hole and tell everyone else the same
