“ Jimmy was one of the first people that we got to know since we moved to the area. Of course it was at the Bangor Tavern with his wife Jackie. He always made us feel welcome, be it at the bar or at his home. Always treated us like we were special or something. A hard worker, a great friend. He was actually the special one. Old Style!

“ What can I say about Jimmy Dill? He was a dear friend for many years. We used to go to he & Jackie's to play dice and had so much fun. Many days, we'd just sit at their house for hours laughing & talking. Jim was one of the funniest guys I knew too. He could always get me riled up talking about Kid Rock being Hank Williams son! Loved hearing his Chicago stories. You will be missed but never forgotten.
