“ from my lips to God’s ears. “George, how very much I pray that you are safe in God’s arms, and experiencing the glorious peace that eluded you these last few years on earth. This earthly life is not an easy one at times, and I’m sorry that your physical weariness won over. Thank you for all the times you moved us with your humor, your wisdom, and your poignancy. You touched this world, and left a beautiful impression. My thoughts are with you this day, as you undergo the transition from this earthly life. The physical body may weaken with age and the stresses of life, but your true heart, the essence of who you are, will always be beautiful and pure, untouched by the ravages of time and life. You are in God’s hands now. Prayers, for your family and friends as they struggle with your loss. You are home at last.....Amen....”
