“ My mom was an absolute blessing. I am so grateful for the last couple years God gifted us with. We were so close to losing her so many times. She kept fighting. She was the toughest person that I've ever known. It is contradicting that someone as sweet and selfless as she was, was also incredibly stubborn. She had so much love to give and loved children so much that she not only raised her 6, many of her grandchildren, and half of my, Nicky, and Joey's friends as well. Our house was basically an open door for kids who needed a place. Whether it was a night or for years, she selflessly shared her home, dinner table, her love, and most importantly Christ's love shining through her to all of those kids. A Saint and an Angel is what I feel I was blessed with as a mother! She was the best and I could share for days how much I love her. Until I see you again, mom, please know how much I loved you!
